IPSO and the UK newspaper industry

The Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO) was established in 2014 by the UK newspaper industry. The purpose of IPSO is to help the newspaper industry meet its responsibilities.

These responsibilities include:

- holding those in power to account
- supporting the principle of free speech
- making sure newspaper reporting is in the public interest.

Discuss how IPSO helps the UK newspaper industry meet its responsibilities.

The Commonwealth

The Commonwealth is a global organisation. There are 56 countries which are members, with a joint population of 2.5 billion. The majority of these were part of the British Empire.

The head of the Commonwealth is King Charles III. Its headquarters are in London. The leaders of the member states meet every two years at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM). Member countries must agree with the values contained in the Commonwealth Charter. These are democracy, human rights and the rule of law. Member countries also take part in the Commonwealth Games.

The Commonwealth seeks to promote cooperation between members over shared political, economic and environmental concerns.

Discuss how the UK benefits from being a member of the Commonwealth.

Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Tribunal

A child with autism missed four months of school due to the failures of Salford City Council.

The child's mother took Salford City Council to the SEND Tribunal. The child's mother went to the Tribunal in order to ensure her child was able to attend a school that could meet his additional learning needs.

The Tribunal found the council failed to follow the Children and Families Act (2014).

The child is now in a suitable school. The family has received compensation and the costs of the tribunal have been paid for by Salford City Council.

Describe two ways a tribunal can help UK citizens.

The most dangerous town in England

A recent report found that Cleveland in the north east of England is the most dangerous place to live, with 128 crimes per 1000 people. The town has seen a decline since the economic recession in 2008, with local services such as youth clubs closed.

The town's police force has been criticised for not being tough on petty crimes such as burglaries. Since 2010, Cleveland Police have reduced their numbers by 500 due to budget cuts.

Residents have tried to deal with the problem themselves in recent years by installing cameras and hiring their own private security guards to patrol the streets.

Discuss two factors which can affect the crime rate in the UK.

Refer to Source E in your answer.

Magistrates' Court

A Magistrates' Court usually deals with those who are over 18 years old. They are different from Youth Courts.

- Magistrates' Courts are three magistrates which are called 'the bench'.
- Magistrates' Courts are held formally. Magistrates are addressed as 'sir' or 'madam'.
- Since Magistrates' Courts deal with adults, there is no requirement for parents to attend as the person is already an adult.
- Magistrates' Courts are open to the public. A visitor may observe the case and the press may attend if it is of public interest.
- Usually, only the defendant's solicitor will attend. Other agencies will support after the case has concluded.

Describe two ways a Youth Court is different from a Magistrates' Court.
